Translation of the Virudāvalī of Jagadguru Rāmabhadra cārya

May the great emperor Svāmī Śrī Rāmabhadra cārya, who is –

- Especially adorned with infinite Śrī honorifics;
- The bumblebee for the lotus feet of the venerable first Jagadguru Rāmānandā cārya who was the bumblebee for the nectar of the lotus-feet of mother Sītā and Lord Rāma and who was the founder of the Śrī Sampradāya and whose intellect was like the Mandara mount for churning the great ocean of the essence of all scriptures;
- The true adornment of all Vaiṣṇavas;
- Devoted to the investigation of deep truths present in the eloquent speech of the Ṛṣis - all of Veda, grammar, Tantra, Purāṇa, and Itihāsa;
- Familiar with the furthest shore of the ocean of words, sentences and the means of knowledge;
- The acclaimed forerunner in understanding of the canons of Sāṅkhya, Yoga, Nyāya, Vaiśeṣika, Pūrva Mīmāṃsā, Vedānta, Nārada Bhakti Sūtra, Śaṅḍilya Bhakti Sūtra, Bhagavad Gītā, Vālmīki Rāmāyaṇa, Śrīmadbhāgavata, and the most skilled in comprehensive self-studying, discoursing and expounding of the complete works of Gosvāmī Tulasīdāsa;

- The bearer of the onus for protection of the Sanātana Dharma;
- Dexterous in the preservation of propriety of the four Āśramas and the four Varṇas;
- Unblemished in mind because of bathing in the Ganges of the venerable Bhakti of mother Sītā and Lord Rāma obtained through a lineage of Sadgurus unbroken since time immemorial;
- The royal swan in the Rāmacaritamānasa, the lake of the acts of Lord Rāma;
- Ever devoted to caressing the infant Lord Rāma;
- The dispeller (conquerer) of all the learned in the philosophy of the Orient and the Occident;
- The great poet in the language of the nation (Hindi) and the language of the gods (Saṃskṛta);
- The first among the wise;
- Abounding with the wealth of the love and adoration of Lord Rāma with mother Sītā;
- The crest-jewel among the connoisseurs of the scriptural dialectics;
- The foremost among the supreme ascetics, the wandering monks, the preceptors and the carriers of the Tridaṇḍa;
- Learned in the Veda and absorbed in the contemplation of Brahman;
- The author of commentaries on the Prasthānatrayī (the Brahma Sūtra, the Bhagavad Gītā and the principal Upaniṣads);
- The greatest of the great teacher;
- The master of speech;
- The life-long chancellor of the Jagadguru Rambhadracharya Handicapped University;
- A resident on the pure banks of the river Mandākinī situated in Cītrakūṭa;
- The presiding chair of the Tulsi Peeth;
- The sovereign king of Dharma;
- The venerable Jagadguru Rāmānandācārya;

be victorious.
